Rush Work on Buckeye Ave. Grade School

BUILDING TO BE AVAILABLE IN FALL TERM

Contractors Begin Work On McKinley, Prospect School Additions

Salem's newest school building, the Buckeye Avenue grade school, will be ready for occupancy by the time school opens in the fall, Superintendent E. S. Kerr said today.

Work on the eight-room structure is moving along rapidly. The contractors have poured concrete for the second floor. The next step in construction will be the wall plastering and the installation of the finished floors.

The building, to contain six class rooms, a kindergarten, lunch room, and auditorium-gymnasium, is located at the north end of Buckeye ave.

New Heat, Light Systems

Meanwhile, work has begun on the new additions at Prospect and McKinley grade schools. Although the additions will not be completed until the fall of 1949, the present buildings will benefit next term by the installation of new heating and lighting systems.

This phase of the projects will be finished this summer, Supt. Kerr said. Following the opening of school in September, the additions will be blocked off from the old buildings and work will continue on the new construction.

The general building contract for the Prospect job was awarded to the School-Croffitt Co. of Youngstown, while the McKinley project is being handled by the Adolph Johnson & Sons firm of Youngstown, which built the City hospital annex.

The McKinley and Prospect additions will be similar. Each will include four new class rooms over a combination gym-auditorium. Also on the plans are nurse's rooms, conference rooms and kitchens.

All three jobs are part of the $500,000 grade school improvement program approved by the Salem voters in November, 1946.

Stassen Says Naval Aid Israel's Need

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Harold E. Stassen favors sending a major portion of the United States Navy to Palestine.

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination came out for such action by the U. S. last night in a speech at Philadelphia's arena.

He said he favored the Navy support as a means of protecting the residents of Israel from continued slaughter.

Stassen also listed "four dangers of war":

- 1.—If America stumbles at home.
- 2.—If Communist aggression spreads over additional millions.
- 3.—If totalitarian Socialist economies stagnate peoples now free.
- 4.—If the ideals of the United Nations on a world level crumble on the rocks of Palestine.

Senate Leaders Lay Plan For Bills Before June 19

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The senate stretched out its working hours today in a bid to dispose of one of three bills tagged "must" by GOP leaders aiming at a June 19 adjournment.

Acting Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska said he will hold the chamber in session "quite late" into the night if necessary to dispose of the measure designed to admit up to 200,000 war refugees into this country during the next two years.

That bill, a limited revival of the draft, and extension of the Reciprocal Trade act beyond June 12 were the only ones posted on an admittedly tentative and incomplete list of measures which top Republican leaders have labeled for definite action.

The list is in addition to appropriations bills carrying money to maintain the federal government during the year starting July 1. Conspicuously missing from the list, announced by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) yesterday, was any civil rights legislation.

Also missing were such bills as long-range housing, the oleo tax repeal, extension of farm price supports, government workers' pay boosts, raising of the minimum wage and others.

Nothing "Out"

But Taft, the presidential aspirant who is chairman of the senate's Republican policy committee, said the GOP leaders who met in House Speaker Martin's office late yesterday "ruled nothing out."

They decided, Taft said, that "the 19th of June should still be our goal for adjournment." That date is

REACH AGREEMENT ON GERMAN PROBLE

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, June 2.—A six-nation conference on Western Germany's political and economic future reported officially today it has reached agreement on recommendations covering the whole field.

That was the heart of a 50-word communiqué summing up the results of six weeks of talk which brought together high-ranking diplomats, financial and production experts from the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

It mentioned directly none of the major accomplishments of the talks—among them the recommendation to establish a separate Western Germany early next year, plans for creating an international control board over the Ruhr's key minerals, or long range methods for preventing rebirth of German aggression.

But it did say that a report on its recommendations will shortly be made public. Diplomatic officials here said this probably would not come before another two weeks—after the recommendations have been reviewed in detail by the governments concerned.

LARGEST FUND FOR ARMS HITS HOUSE FLOOR

Record Peacetime Money Bill Up For Debate In Action Today

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON, June 2.—The biggest peacetime military budget in the nation's history hit the house floor today — $10,196,672,250 for the Army, Navy and Air force.

The appropriations committee at the same time released testimony warning of the "alarming menace" of Soviet military might and disclosing that the United States fleet now in the Mediterranean is there for two reasons:

First, to serve as a warning to Soviet union not to try to overrun any of the free countries of Europe.

Second, to be ready to remove American forces if worst came to worst.

Says Can Be Augmented Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, told the committee just two weeks ago that the Mediterranean fleet of one carrier, three cruisers and 10 destroyers could be augmented quickly.

(A 12 ship task force headed by the Carrier Kearsage left Norfolk, Va., late yesterday to relieve the vessels now on duty in the Mediterranean.)

Discussing the use of U. S. ships in foreign waters, Denfeld declared: "Not only is the presence of our ships in certain troubled spots of the world today a clear indication to would-be troublemakers of our determination to maintain the peace; it is also the means, and the only means we possess, whereby we may act swiftly to prevent the over-running of critical areas by an enemy."

Two separate appropriation bills—given top priority for immediate action—provide $6,509,229,000 for the Army and the Air forces and $3,686,733,250 for the Navy for the year starting July 1.

Their combined total is $10,196,000 greater than the services are spending this year and more than three times as much as the regular 1941 budgets for the armed forces.

The committee recommended a cut of 6.1 per cent, or $241,005,450, for the Navy, and 9 per cent, or $647,903,000, for the Army-air forces, from amounts President Truman had asked.

But both sums recommended are in addition to approximately $3,000,000,000 congress recently gave the services to buy aircraft.

Boy Scout Camp Program Arranged

An organized summer camping program at the McKinley Boy Scout reservation will be in operation for a period of three weeks from July 13 to Aug. 7, as announced by A. V. Smith, camping and activities chairman for the Columbiana council, Boy Scouts of America.

The camp will have a director, Field Scout Executive Eugene G. Russell, a waterfront man, and a cook. Eighteen meals a week, from Sunday supper to Saturday lunch will be served in Riddle lodge, formerly known as the Green cabin.

Boy Scout troops under their own leadership will be able to take advantage of this program for a fee of $10 per scout a week. One "provisional troop" will be conducted for individual scouts who cannot attend with their own troop unit, for whom no camp can provide their own leadership, but the cost will be $13 a week.

Russell has just completed the camp directors school which is conducted by the National Council of the Boy Scouts at the Tar Hollow state forest near Chillicothe.

Councilmen Argue Over Action On Truck Cutoff

A conflict in the activity of city council committees seemed evident Tuesday after Councilman George Chappell reported on a proposed project to rid E. and W. State streets of heavy truck traffic.

Chappell, with County Engineer Charles O. Snyder and Safety Director C. E. Phillips conferred last week with state highway department officials in New Philadelphia regarding the possibility of establishing a cut-off for the heavy truck traffic now passing through Salem. The move was made by Chappell as chairman of the safety committee without previous conference with other councilmen.

Chappell said the department was interested, cooperative and willing to discuss the matter and promised to survey city traffic for destination statistics to determine where and how the cut-off should be made.

After his report, Acting President Fred Koenreich, a member of the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee, asked Chappell if the department officials had told him of the discussion the other committee had conducted with them prior to last week's visit.

Chappell said they had but he indicated that he felt they "intended

SPEED PLANS ON CITY HALL

Council Authorizes Sale Of Homes On Site; Discuss Finances

Authorization to sell the houses now standing on the new site of the city hall was made Tuesday night by city council, but a financial snag in the progress was hinted.

Council passed, under emergency rules, an ordinance authorizing service Director Frank K. Wilson to advertise for bids on the purchase of the two frame buildings and one brick dwelling at 201, 221 and 231 S. Broadway, the site of the $100,000 city building.

The action was taken so that the sale can be consummated and the buildings removed to make way for actual construction.

Check Building Costs A somewhat discordant note in the hurry to start the project was heard last night, however, when Acting President Fred Koenreich, serving in the absence of Harry Vincent, reported on a meeting of council and the architectural firm representing the city, Wilbur Watson & Associates of Cleveland.

Koenreich said the architect informed council that it must find out what the actual building costs are going to be at today's prices before going any further.

He is preparing preliminary plans and specifications to solicit estimates from several local contractors to see about what the costs may be.

Koenreich said the architect told council, "you very definitely will not be able, to construct this building with the money you have available." The architect estimate was not reported on.

Council originally had $100,000 from voter-approved bonds for the project. Already $41,500 has been expended for properties, some $2,500 for preliminary engineering work as per a loan grant from the federal government and minor costs in issuance of bonds.

Council can reasonably expect some cash return from the sale of the residences and from the sale of the present city hall site. This amount, might bring the balance back up to $100,000, but at the present time approximately $116,000 is in fund.

Koenreich said council is studying the matter further and would await the report on the actual bids, which should be available within a week to 10 days.

DEVASTATION MOVES TOWARD PACIFIC COAST

Crest Bearing Down On Areas Near Ocean; 50,000 Homeless

(By Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 2.—The Columbia flood crest bore down on the Clatskanie area today in its rampage to the Pacific ocean. The river lapped less than three inches from dike top and was going higher. Four hundred civilian volunteers struggled to raise the nine dikes in the threatened area two-thirds of the way down the 100-mile barricaded stretch between Portland and the sea.

Behind the hard pressed earthworks is the town of Clatskanie. Its population of about 1,000 has been evacuated. So have residents in other districts of the area.

U. S. Army engineers described the situation in the Clatskanie area as "critical." And it put the same label on five other areas, extending as far upriver as Portland where the crest passed yesterday.

But nowhere was the margin between safety and destruction as narrow as the cryptic "freeboard, two-tenths of a foot" reported by the engineers around Clatskanie.

Upriver, the most vital "critical" points were in the sandy and mult-tonah drainage districts along Portland's north and eastern outskirts. There 200 troops and 700 civilian volunteers fought to bolster flood-battered dikes and keep Portland's airport and the big troutdale aluminum plant from inundation.

Other critical areas were Sauvie Island slightly downstream from Portland; Scappoose, 22 miles down, and Deer Island, near the Oregon shore about midway between Scappoose and Clatskanie.

Of these the Scappoose area seemed in the greatest danger. The engineers said there was a combination threat of dike softness and only one and one-half foot freeboard. Troop-civilian teams battled soft dikes on the two islands.

The crush of water seaward meant the worst was over upriver where the toll is 20-known dead, homeless and damage in millions of dollars.

The flood crest has passed the major cities — Portland, Oregon's metropolis; and Vancouver and Longview on the Washington side of the river. These communities, and many others, are trying now to get back to normal.

ARABS-JEWS O. K. TRUCE WITH 'BUTS'

Prolonged Wrangle Over Details May Draw Out Fighting More

(By Associated Press)

Arab nations accepted with "explanations" today the United Nations' proposal for a four-week armistice in Palestine. The reply made plain the Arabs had no intention of a chance of lasting peace while the Jewish state of Israel exists.

Israel previously had accepted with "assumptions." One of these was that unlimited immigration, including men of fighting age, should continue during the armistice. The Arabs specified that continued Jewish immigration would constitute a grave threat to the Arab countries.

Scattered combat was reported in Jerusalem and elsewhere in Palestine pending a cease fire line, which the U. N. had not yet set.

The Arab reply did not make clear whether the Arab acceptance of the armistice is conditional on the United Nations' agreeing to their "explanations." The Arabs left the time of the cease fire to be decided. The Jews had set 6 p. m. EST yesterday, conditional upon a similar Arab order.

The "explanations" specified that any solution partitioning Palestine into Jewish and Arab states has no chance of success. That is the very point over which both sides have been skirmishing since late in November and warring in the open since May 15, when the British mandate ended. The Arabs also stressed Jewish immigration as a peril and asked to be allowed to cooperate with the U. N. to supervise compliance with the cease fire.

Prolonged debate, during which fighting will continue, appeared to be in prospect.

Election Analysis

There is the same reason to be skeptical about conclusions jumped at after elections in Europe as there is in the United States.

The conclusion-jumpers have a habit of making assumptions that cannot be squared with what happened at the polls.

For example, they usually assume that a vote for a certain party, such as the Communist party in European elections, represented an affirmative decision by the voter for that party. The truth may be that the vote was a protest against a competing party. In years past, thousands of Americans have voted for socialist candidates for president on this basis; they were protesting against the platform and record of the major parties.

Apparent Communist gains in the recent municipal elections in the American zone of Germany may be subject to this same interpretation. Germans may not have been voting for Communists but against candidates of the parties favored by the United States. As in Greece and Italy, Communist strength in Germany is an illusion created by dissatisfaction with other political organizations. It is helpful to remember that in the United States the apparent strength of the new deal was created by protest psychology. Certainly, the new dealers never forgot it. Even in 1944 they still were exploiting the anti-Hoover sentiment on which they rode to power in 1932. It was their stock in trade.

The Communist party has nothing to offer in Europe except an outlet for resentment against the shortcomings of other parties. That is the Communist line throughout the world. It is the reason why Communists do everything they can to stir up bitterness and disorder—so they can capitalize on popular resentment.

A Job of Caulking

This week President Truman starts on an expedition unprecedented in American politics. He undertakes a pre-convention tour to strengthen his chances of renomination.

In an election year, the chief executive, prior to the convention, has had only the task of preparing his acceptance speech and making known his choice for vice president. But the old alliances that make up the Democratic party have begun to come apart at the seams. Mr. Truman's expedition will be in the nature of a caulking job.

The President's five major speeches will be in areas where draft-Eisenhower sentiment has been strong. His hand is re-inforced by the fact that this sentiment is unorganized and based largely on wishful thinking rather than on any likelihood of Eisenhower's acceptance. The President's hand also is re-inforced by the fact that no avowed and capable rival has arisen within the party to challenge his leadership. Indeed, during the Truman incumbency no second in command has emerged as a likely choice for vice president, so that today his choice of a running mate is as unsettled as it was two years ago.

As he opens his pre-convention campaign, Mr. Truman will rely largely on extemporaneous speeches, which he has been delivering with considerable success. But informal speech and personal appearances across the nation, he hopes to rise in public esteem and make such a favorable impression on doubtful party leaders that all draft-Eisenhower talk will be silenced.

Opening The Danube

Secretary Marshall's proposal to Russia to open the Danube river serves to recall that the Danube once was an artery of commerce open to ships of all nations. That was its status from 1859 until World War I. From 1919 until 1939 Russia was excluded from the international river commission after the Reds seized Bessarabia in 1940, through traffic ceased.

Today the Danube is in Russian control, except for its upper reaches which in themselves constitute an important artery of commerce. But the Danube, open for its navigable length to ships of all nations, would be an important factor in European recovery. To this end, Secretary Marshall has proposed that a conference be held July 30 in Belgrade. Based on past experience with Russia, the proposal hasn't much chance of evoking more than the usual rejection.

Good and Bad Drivers

Connecticut has completed a survey of drivers which, while it revealed nothing new, brought known facts into sharper focus. The state used its police powers to summon the 93 drivers with the worst records in the state and enlisted the help of 93 volunteers, each of whom had driven more than 100,000 miles without accident.

Physical tests and interviews showed the temperament rather than lack of driving experience to be at the root of most accidents. No important differences were noted between the two groups in eyesight, blood pressure or mental reflexes. The careless drivers had exaggerated ideas of their mastery over alcohol. More important, the safe drivers were found to observe the rules of common courtesy and were satisfied to proceed to their destinations at moderate speed.

How these findings will be translated into law or otherwise utilized isn't apparent. But the survey does give a clearer idea of where the trouble lies.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Simpler Remedies For Ulcer

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

DOCTORS know that the best rule in the treatment of stomach ulcers is to try the simple remedies first, reserving the more drastic procedures, such as operation on the stomach or nerve-cutting, for cases where healing cannot be obtained by any other means.

Some patients seem to get well with complete rest in bed, the use of a bland, non-irritating diet, and alkaline preparations to lessen the acid in the stomach.

Unfortunately, there is a tendency for the ulcers to recur, and then, too, many patients are not relieved by medical treatment. Hence, in these cases, surgery is often employed.

Removal of a large portion of the stomach is one form of operation that has been utilized. In recent times, another operation called vagotomy has been used in the treatment of ulcer patients.

This operation consists in cutting the vagus nerve which runs to the stomach.

Many physicians believe that, in ulcers of the stomach, the only operation which should be employed is removal of a portion of the stomach, especially in patients over 35 years of age.

This operation appears to be entirely satisfactory and brings complete relief from the symptoms.

Just how the operation on the vagus nerve brings relief has not been definitely determined.

However, enough operations have been performed to show that it is quite beneficial. Failure of a cure may be due to the fact that not all of the nerve fibers have been cut. It has been suggested that, before the vagotomy operation is carried trating into the pancreas or are involving the ducts coming from the gallbladder.

Every patient with ulcers needs thorough study to determine just what measure will be most effective.

The warning signs which should send him to the doctor are attacks of pain coming on from one to three hours after meals, sometimes accompanied by sickness at the stomach and vomiting.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th St., New York City.

Taft Says Congress May Skip Atom Jobs

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 2—Senator Taft (Ohio) said today Republicans may let Atomic Energy commission appointees go unconfirmed if Democrats make any lengthy fight against the two-year extension bill.

With congress watching the clock of a proposed June 19 adjournment, Taft said his party won't have any time to spare for a long battle over the measure to extend the commission's terms until 1950.

"If we can get it passed without too much difficulty congress can send the bill to President Truman and let him decide whether he wants to veto it or give the commissioners recess appointments," the Ohioan said.

"But if the Democrats are going to fight it, then maybe the bill won't be passed at all. That would bring the appointment question up again next January."

Chairman David E. Lilienthal and his four commission colleagues would continue to serve under their present appointments until congress either extended their terms or successors were named and confirmed.

Truman renominated Lilienthal for a full five-year term and the others for terms ranging from one to four years.

The two-year extension was proposed as a compromise between those who want to follow the present law and those who favor keeping the issue open in the event the presidency changes hands in the November election.

Buoyant answer to Back Road and Boulevard

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

REMEMBER that rough patch of road yonder where the ruts and ridges make a washboard seem smooth?

Recall the tiring tenseness brought on by the drum and hum of road noise and tremor even over smooth concrete highways?

Well, clock away the miles in this stunningly styled Buick — and meet up with the sweetest answer to such matters this side of cloud cruising.

"It's a ride that's soft and smooth as velvet," folks tell us. And we tell them it comes from a host of things.

It comes from the ample road-weight of a two-ton car built low and wide — and so beautifully balanced it handles light as a baton. It comes from the leveling buoyancy of Buick's all-coil springing which puts a pillow of deeply coiled steel at each wheel to soak up the bumps and ripples.

It comes from the softness of bigger, lower-pressure tires that cushion away road tremors and roughness — from the sure-footed, swerve-free steadiness of Buick's extra wide Safety-Ride rims, widest in the industry.

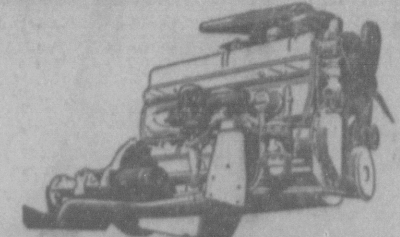

And it comes in special measure from a brand-new engineering gem we call Vibra-Shielding which banishes vibration build-up.

Here for the first time you're freed from the motoring fatigue brought on by tiny tremors piling up into bigger ones. Here your miles are made moss-smooth and quiet — long journeys become mere jaunts.

So why delay knowing the most buoyant answer to any road you ever traveled?

Come visit us now. Know at first hand the distinctive styling, the flashing action, the velvety ride over highway and byway that are Buick's and Buick's alone.

Then follow your heart's desire and get your order in promptly. We'll take it in proper sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

REASON FOR THE VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE
Placed with scientific exactness, 3 fat cushions of special composition cradle the engine so as to control its vibration frequency. Engine vibration is thus kept "out of tune" with those that might come from other parts of the car. The result is to shield car occupants against living pulsations, cut road noise, make engine sensation almost imperceptible and motorizing practically fatigue-free.

ARMY ANNOUNCES DRAFT SCHEDULES

Will Induct 30,000 Men Per Month If Congress Okays Newest Bill

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 2—Army plans to draft 30,000 men a month if congress passes a selective service law were disclosed today.

They were made public by the house appropriations committee as it sent to the house floor the annual Army-Air Force Money bill for the year starting July 1.

The Army told the committee during closed-door hearings on the bill that it had hoped to start inductions around July 1 but might be delayed until September or October.

"We will be prepared to receive 0,000 inductees a month, in addition to the volunteer enlistees," said Maj. Gen. H. R. Bull of the organization and training division.

"We are going to operate all of our installations to the maximum capacity and, therefore, we would reach our requested strength of 390,000 by March, 1949."

There was no disclosure of navy draft plans.

If war should come, the Army will have a lot of ammunition to get started with.

It told the committee it has on hand 8,500,000 tons of ammunition of various kinds, compared with practically none in 1939; 2,500,000 M-1 (Garand) rifles, and 7,900 tons of tanks, trucks, vehicles, guns and other equipment. Some of the equipment is growing obsolete, but most of it can be serviced and used in a pinch.

Second Guessing

DEPARTMENT OF CONGRATULATIONS

For several years Salem has been making a sincere and worthwhile effort to build a creditable reputation once again as a baseball community. Softball for more than 20 years has been gaining popularity and has achieved the place that baseball once held in Salem's heart.

There used to be, and is always will be, room for both sports in full blossom on the local sports scene and proponents of both should be able to realize their goals now without undue conflicts.

One of the serious drawbacks to the two-pronged program here was a lack of diamonds and a lack of enough time to operate both sports effectively.

Now, with the West End park absorbing almost all of the Class A softball play and Centennial park handling the comparatively less active Class B operation, there seems to be room for the baseball teams Salem has acquired.

And since last season, Scott Chisholm's Athletic club park, with a diamond and facilities that are constantly being improved, offers another outlet for the Grand Old Game, baseball, in Quakertown.

And Chisholm, the Amvets, the American Legion (through their Hine Motor Co. sponsored Junior Legion team) and several other active groups are doing a fine job of promoting baseball in Salem.

Softball, of course, through the well-managed and always attractive program operated by Joe Kelley, is maintaining its important place on the summer scene.

Where last year Salem had about three or four active baseball teams—and none of too great a quality—this season finds the community with an opportunity to watch six at Chisholm's field, the Amvet aggregation and the Junior Legion regularly. That is a total of eight, not including a fine club playing at Lake Placid in the Althouse Dodge uniform.

Many old timers have lamented openly in recent years the fact that a few good "young ball players" are coming out of Salem. It's been a long, long time since Salem has produced a big timer.

Several youngsters have made the try within the past few years, but none has succeeded. The reason undoubtedly was that there just isn't enough youngster training for the diamond sport in this area.

Joe Kelley, a few years back, did considerably with his Legion teams to re-develop that valuable training. Chet Brautigan, one-time minor league hurler and once coach of a short-lived high school team here, also chipped in his efforts around the end of the Thirties.

It's a worthwhile project. There's room for it here and the fans would be doing the community's youth a favor if they showed the proper interest. That's a method that impresses youngsters, for they love to be "in" the sports that are backed by public interest and attendance.

AMVETS, DEMING WIN TO CLING TO TOP OF LEAGUE

Schaeffer Hurls One-Hitter As Salem Diner Takes Bliss Outfit

After Tuesday's re-opening of Class A softball, following a holiday layoff, only two undefeated teams remain in the league, Mullins losing their coveted spot when upset 7-3 by a determined Saxons outfit.

In other games yesterday the league-leading Amvets and Deming teams each chalked up victories to stay unbeaten and atop the heap.

In the fourth game the progressing Salem Diner won its fourth in six 4-3 over dangerous Bliss.

The Amvets, Johnny Zines breaking a streak of two no-hitters, won over the hapless Recreation 9-2 and the Deming crew measured Washingtonville by a 5-2 margin.

Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer, Youngstown college athlete, hurled for the Salem Diner last night and allowed Bliss only a single hit, but a few walks and a couple of errors cost the three runs.

Zines let the Recreation down with five hits as his team played errorless ball behind him.

Kenny Bruderly's job on the Elite squad was satisfactory. He gave up only three hits and had things well in hand all the way.

Mullins' defeat came as a surprise for the factory men have been showing improvement right along. The leading hitter, Pallerino, had his hit .-p shut off in four trips, the first game this year he has failed to bang a safety.

Mullins got seven hits, but the Saxons pounded out 10 big ones and made them count.

Domestic Peace Essential

If this country goes back to the fundamentals of the constitution and puts its house in order, it need have no fear of any attack by a foreign country because it could withstand any assault.

That statement was made to the Rotary club, meeting Tuesday noon in the Memorial building, by Col. Willard F. Rockwell, chairman of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. He urged that private enterprise again be permitted to keep most of its profits instead of turning them over to the government and said peace can be established if labor and industry get together and have a government of economy.

Referring to the international picture, Rockwell said Russia will cause us trouble only when we are weak. He was introduced by John Gonda.

Medical Auxiliary Has Dinner Program

The Columbiana County Medical auxiliary heard Mrs. Glen Harding of Salem explain the art of flower arranging at a delightful luncheon meeting Tuesday afternoon at the East Liverpool Country club. Mrs. Guy Byers introduced the speaker. Mrs. Harding illustrated her talk by making up bouquets of various types, using basic rules of arrangement.

Mrs. John Frazer of East Liverpool was in charge of the luncheon plans.

Mrs. Chester Dewalt presided at the tables, made attractive with roses and peonies, around which the 30 guests were seated.

Each auxiliary member voted to contribute $5 a year to a student nurse fund. The money will assist students in Salem City and East Liverpool hospitals, and will be used to the best advantage for the individual nurse's need.

The next meeting will be in Salem in August.

LARGEST

The new funds are intended to build up Army and Air force personnel to a top strength of 1,234,500 and the Navy and Marine corps to 552,000.

Compare Soviet
This compares with reported Soviet military strength of 4,000,000 men, which Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of Army staff, said presents "an alarming menace to the security of the United States."

The Navy bill furnishes money to start work on a 65,000-ton aircraft carrier, largest in the world, and on a "killer ship" to combat submarines. The two high-speed submarines, and two submarines of "an entirely new character" not otherwise described.

Also provided are funds to convert a carrier and two submarines into ships whose nature was kept a closely-guarded secret.

The committee was told that Russia has at least 250 submarines. Testimony taken during the hearings shows that the Army plans to use 272,000 of its men overseas and 518,000 in this country. Its mobile striking force in the United States will include three infantry divisions, an armored division, an airborne division, two regiments of armored cavalry, four regiments of combat teams, 12 field artillery battalions, 40 anti-aircraft battalions, two chemical mortar battalions and supporting forces.

The 1,234,500 manpower goal set for the Army and Air force is 302,500 more than the two services expect to have in uniform at the end of this month—a factor that underscored the priority Republican leaders have given the draft bills pending in both house and senate.

Even though the Army-Air force fund approved was the largest ever in peacetime, it was nine per cent below the amount President Truman had asked. Many of the cuts, however, were aimed at civilian personnel.

Cut Request Some
It cut $647,903,000 from the President's budget requests for $7,157,842,000 but $50,000,000 of this was offset by voting contract authority in that amount. This means contracts can be let with the money to come from future appropriation bills.

The total cash approved—$5,618,203,000 for the Army and $891,736,000 for the Air force—compares with $1,500,000,000 in the Army's regular budget for the fiscal year 1941 when the nation was gearing for war and the Army and the Air force were financed by a single budget.
